As many of you are aware there is always questions around what approved languages can be used in the Computer Programming Contest. We are not really sure how many are out there however it states in our 2019 Technical Standards any approved language can be used it just mentions the (at the time) most popular. The issue here is that they change so fast we cannot keep we have however researched the current top 10 and have them listed below.

The most popular programming languages are supported. The most popular by far have been C, C++, C#, Java, and Python.

Below are the 10 most current/popular and the Link below will give the explanation.

1. Java
2. Python
