MY SkillsUSA FRAMEWORK STORY

Work ethic is essential in any career pathway you follow. As an emergency medical student, when practicing mock emergency scenarios we must perform them and help patients as if they were the real thing. Practicing scenarios and learning the value of health care, I discovered the importance of work ethic. I learned the value of hard work and never giving up. This is essential in the medical field, because sometimes when you feel you have to fight through every obstacle, you can’t give up, because you’re not only fighting for you, you are fighting for the patient.

CTE BELIEF STATEMENT

I believe career and technical education (CTE) is important for today’s students and tomorrow’s leaders. CTE provides career readiness skills needed to thrive in today’s workplace while providing certification. CTE provides opportunities to express who we are through our trade, and to develop our passions and support tomorrow’s workforce.

FUTURE GOALS

I plan to continue my studies and attend college, double-majoring in psychology and biology. I plan to be a pediatric surgeon, and I hope to one day open a clinic to provide affordable, modern medicine.
