Thank you for your company’s participation in Connect to My Future.

As part of your team’s participation, we hope you will publicize your education volunteerism. We encourage you to share photos of your team’s engagement with our students on your company’s social media channels, company website, internal and external newsletters, and any other method used by your company to communicate.

You can involve your company’s public relations or social media team, if you wish. Below are a few photo suggestions and captions, depending on your team’s work situation. We would also love to receive your photos for our own coverage of the SkillsUSA’s conference.
