MEDIA AND PUBLICITY

This section provides resources and information to get local media coverage for your SkillsUSA National Signing Day event. Local media coverage will enable you to tell the public and internal and external stakeholders who you are, what you're doing, and why they should attend your event.

How to Use Local Media to Promote Your Event

There are three key elements to building a media story:

1. Media List
2. Media Pitches & Media Alerts
3. Creative Assets

Media List

As a first step, you need to create a media list. A media list includes the reporter's name, email address, outlet name, and relevant notes. Here are the steps to building a media list:

1. Compile a list of local newspapers, magazines, websites, blogs, radio, and television stations.
2. Create a spreadsheet that includes a contact person, phone number, and email address for each outlet. See if anyone has done a story about your SkillsUSA chapter in the past.
3. Call each outlet to ask for these details to ensure you do not have outdated information.
 - Newspapers: When possible, ask for the contact who covers education, workforce development, local events, careers, and/or business.
 - Magazines: Ask for the business, workforce development or education writer.
 - Radio: Ask for the news director.
 - TV: Ask for assignment desk or dayside producer.

SkillsUSA Advocate

SkillsUSA Advocate (advocate.skillsusa.org) offers media contacts. Put in your zip code to find contacts in your area. You can contact media right through the site or see their contact information and website to build your custom list.

Pitching Your Story to the Media

Pitches are short emails that describe something new and interesting in order to gauge a reporter's interest in writing about it for a story online, in print, or on TV. Pitches are personalized to each reporter's beat/interest areas and include important details about your event.

Use the pitch template below as a starting point and update the [highlighted areas] with relevant information. This format is primarily used for print media.

To reach local television affiliates, you should use a slightly different format called a media alert. This format helps highlight specific visuals that may be available for camera crews.

Creative Assets

When possible, it's always a great idea to provide images and videos to reporters when pitching to help them visually tell the story. You should avoid attachments when you send pitches as this could cause the emails to get caught in spam folders, and some reporters do not open attachments as a matter of practice. Instead, you can use Dropbox, Google Drive or another file sharing platform and share a link to relevant images and videos. Examples to include:

- National Signing Day logo (SkillsUSA.org)
- SkillsUSA's logo (SkillsUSA.org)
- Photos of your school and SkillsUSA members
- Photos of your classroom or labs
- Links to previous news articles about your chapter and school

Local SkillsUSA Students Participate in National Signing Day to Celebrate CTE Career Commitments on May 4

Event recognizes students pursuing a career in the skilled trades

[City, State] — Students and teachers at [NAME OF SCHOOL] have teamed up with SkillsUSA and its industry partners to celebrate SkillsUSA National Signing Day on May 4, 2022. An estimated [NUMBER] students at [NAME OF SCHOOL] will be part of the program to recognize local career and technical education students for their dedication to pursuing a career in any of the 130 occupational areas that SkillsUSA serves. This year, more than 1,500 students from 300 SkillsUSA schools are expected to participate nationwide.

SkillsUSA is a partnership of students, teachers and industry working together to ensure America has a skilled workforce. This nonprofit education association empowers its members to become world-class workers, leaders and responsible American citizens, producing the career-ready graduates who can help close America's skills gap.

On SkillsUSA National Signing Day, these dedicated students will be recognized by their school administrators, teachers, elected officials, SkillsUSA advisors, family and friends for making a decision to pursue a career in the skilled trades, a high demand sector that continues to face an immense labor shortage.

In a style similar to "National Signing Day" events for high-school student athletes, the students will be applauded as they announce their career plans and sign "letters of intent" for a job offer, apprenticeship or advanced technical training. This recognition for career and technical education students will illuminate the many training programs and career paths for students.

"We want to thank our community for supporting SkillsUSA National Signing Day," says [School Administrator NAME, TITLE]. "This program celebrates our career and technical education students and acknowledges their commitment to a career in the skilled trades. Because of this support, SkillsUSA National Signing Day will help generate more awareness of the skilled trades as a viable career option. We invite parents, partners and the public to join us for our event on May 4."

About SkillsUSA

SkillsUSA is a nonprofit partnership of education and industry founded in 1965 to strengthen the nation's skilled workforce. Driven by employer demand, SkillsUSA helps students develop necessary personal and workplace skills along with technical skills grounded in academics. This SkillsUSA Framework empowers every student to succeed at work and in life, while helping to close the skills gap in which millions of positions go unfilled. Through SkillsUSA's championships program and curricula, employers have ensured schools are teaching relevant technical skills, and with SkillsUSA's new credentialing process, they can now assess how ready potential employees are for the job. SkillsUSA has more than 372,000 annual members nationwide in high schools, middle schools and colleges, covering over 130 trade, technical and skilled service occupations, and is recognized by the U.S. Departments of Education and Labor as integral to career and technical education. With the addition of alumni, membership last year was 434,141. SkillsUSA receives in-kind and financial support from more than 650 national partners and has served more than 13.6 million members since 1965. For more information: www.skillsusa.org.
