Brandon Martinez Amarillo College, SkillsUSA Texas

“It seems to be easy for people to think they know what others can and can’t do but I don’t know my limits at this young age, and SkillsUSA is helping me reach even higher and deeper than I thought. Until now, I have done my best to help my family and friends, and now I’m excited to be able to serve others as a SkillsUSA Ambassador. “When I was younger, I used to be excruciatingly shy and new people used to intimidate me. This resulted in numerous missed opportunities. I attended a very small school where I was constantly surrounded by my friends and people I was comfortable with. Here I was able to be outgoing and develop leadership skills, but this did not translate to other areas outside those walls. However, throughout my time at SkillsUSA these walls have been obliterated. Thank you so much for this scholarship! This is truly amazing, and I feel extremely honored. The National Leadership & Skills Conference is such a great opportunity to grow as a student, leader, and as a future member of the workforce. Your support means a tremendous amount. Thank you so much again!”
